

Panic: body sensations and the alarm loop

Original support worksheet | Adults | Reviewed 2026-10-10

Use fictional or appropriately de-identified notes. Write, draw, dictate or point. Not a validated measure, diagnostic test or crisis service.

Sensation: Heart rate, dizziness, other cue

Prediction: What I fear will happen

Alarm / attention: Arousal and body monitoring

Response: Checking, escape or coping

Short relief -> future fear: Immediate effect versus later cost

Sensation and feared meaning in one episode

What I did and how it helped immediately

What it cost later in travel, work or connection

Medical guidance + agreed learning step

Next step: who will do what, by when, and how will we review helpfulness or harm?

New, severe or changed chest pain, collapse, breathing difficulty or other concerning physical symptoms warrant appropriate urgent medical evaluation. Suicidality or inability to remain safe follows the local crisis pathway; never use this map to rule out medical illness.
