

Body-focused repetitive behaviors: awareness and tailored support

Original support worksheet | Adults | Reviewed 2026-10-10

Use fictional or appropriately de-identified notes. Write, draw, dictate or point. Not a validated measure, diagnostic test or crisis service.

Context: Place, task, sensory conditions

Awareness: Before / during / after

Possible function: Sensation, feeling, thought

Immediate + later effect: Relief, injury, interference

Tailored care: Medical need + trained treatment

Context and when I became aware

Sensations/feelings/thoughts without assumed cause

Immediate effect, later impact and health concerns

Acceptable support and trained-treatment question

Next step: who will do what, by when, and how will we review helpfulness or harm?

Infection signs, significant wounds, swallowed hair concerns or other medical symptoms require appropriate evaluation. Assess intentional self-harm separately; do not assume intent from visible injury.
